

URGENT FURTHER RED PROBE

Tax Reduction Bill To Reach President Soon

May Be Placed On His Desk
For Action By Middle Of Next Week

SPEEDY SENATE ACTION FORECAST

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Speedy Senate action on the four billion dollar tax relief bill convinced GOP leaders today that their 1946 campaign "cornerstone" would be dropped in President Truman's lap for approval or veto by the middle of next week.

Sen. Millikin (R) Col., Senate finance chairman, said he was "hopeful" the 10 to 30 percent tax reduction bill will be out of a conference committee by next Tuesday. He predicted Senate passage by tomorrow night.

To Act Promptly
At the same time a responsible GOP spokesman forecast that Mr. Truman, who has opposed tax reductions this year, would act promptly on the final bill. The president has 10 days in which to approve or reject a bill, otherwise it automatically becomes law.

This source pointed out that the president is faced with the necessity of giving the treasury as much time as possible in which to set up the machinery for new wage withholding rates becoming effective on July 1.

The Senate raised Republican optimism by overwhelmingly defeating a Democratic amendment regarding on both sides as having the strongest support. It was a proposal by Sen. McClellan (D) Ark. to give all husbands and wives the privilege of

In spite of the rain yesterday evening there were a number of people at the local cemeteries putting flowers in urns, planting evergreens, etc.

The large lawn on the Highland avenue side of the Cathedral has gotten past the lawn mowing stage. The high grass will have to be cut with a scythe or scythe if it is to be trimmed. The steepness of the embankment makes it a difficult proposition to cut.

Many motorists still insist on crossing over the whiteness on downtown streets, while waiting for traffic lights to change. Pedestrians in many instances are expected to wait around the cars which have blocked the lanes installed for their safety.

A lone plane flying over the East Side district, awakened quite a number of residents early this morning. The plane flying rather low was evidently attempting to attract the attention of some resident of the district.

Although May will go down in the archives as one of the wettest Mays on record, it may not occur to local residents that almost as much rain fell in two days last May, as has occurred so far this month. On the 26th and 27th of May, last year, the total rainfall amounted to 4.15 inches. So far, the unofficial records show, the precipitation has been 4.50 inches. On May 26th, 1946, there was a downfall of 1.63 inches, and on May 27th, the rainfall amounted to 2.87 inches.

Crews of the State Highway Department who are applying the white lines to County Highways are working in two sections of the county today. The men are working in the Southern section and in the Ellwood City district. Only one arrest was necessary due to a motorist not heeding the warning flags of the workers. The work is expected to be completed by noon Thursday.

Hard Work Solution Of Local Problems GNCA Diners Told

"Government can do nothing for you on the local level, that you cannot do better for yourselves." This philosophy, brand new because it is so old and basic, was the heart of Dr. C. S. Wyand's address at the Members' Dinner of the Greater New Castle Association in the Cathedral Tuesday night, attended by about 300. Dr. Wyand is the assistant to the president of Pennsylvania State College.

"Just now we are in a state of fear, bordering on desperation, and we are ripe for the plucking by some expert who will give us nothing and all we will have to pay is our birthright."

Rely On Government(?)
"We have apparently given up trying religion and some people are saying, rely on government. But there are so many problems on the local level that government, either state or national cannot touch. What is it the government can do that we cannot do for our selves?"

"Turn your problems over to the government and immediately a flock of experts are sent in. Now they weren't experts before they were a part of the government but immediately they become so. After they have sent in a lot of delegations of experts and spent a lot of your money, you find you can't do the job yourselves. You can't give people a song and dance and expect that to save them."

"In the 30's we came a cropper. But by 1939, after the government had been given unlimited resources and unlimited authority the United States was in a depressed condition and only the war saved us, which is a poor way. We missed the moral of this. The government pulled a few folks out of the hole but with 265 billions of dollars I imagine even I could have pulled somebody out."

Dr. Wyand was old fashioned enough to suggest that hard work by competent local people would do more to solve local problems than anything else. He stressed the im-

Labor Measure Conferees Near End Of Parley

May Finish Task Of Writing
Compromise Labor Bill
During Day

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(INS)—House-Senate conferees hoped to finish today their task of writing the compromise labor bill that Congress will send to President Truman.

Optimism of Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, on chances of winding up the conference work by tonight indicated that no serious deadlocks lay ahead of the group—although no public statement was made on agreements reached.

Rep. Hartley (R) N. J., said he expected to get the conference measure before the house—which acts first—by next Wednesday. Prompt action by the senate is expected to follow.

Some Problems Yet
House conferees reportedly followed the tentative pattern of informal agreements last week and yielded to the senate version on major points. They scrapped the "tough" features such as the industry-wide bargaining ban and the private use of the injunction by employers against jurisdictional strikes and boycotts.

Still reportedly undecided as to today's parley opened were the questions of extending collective bargaining rights to agricultural processing workers, and how much of the house-passed "workers' bill of rights" the senate would accept.

Informed sources said there was a split among house members. One official declared that there may be one or two of the five house conferees who will refuse to sign the conference report in protest of house concessions to the senate.

Blame Carelessness For Texas City Blast

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(INS)—Ignorance and carelessness in the handling of dangerous ammonium nitrate were blamed today for the fire and explosions which virtually wiped out Texas City, Tex., on April 16.

A preliminary report of the Coast Guard board of investigation particularly stressed the condoning of smoking on a ship being loaded with the explosive fertilizer.

The report made public by Admiral Joseph F. Farley, commander of the Coast Guard, contained the following points:

Dionnes Celebrate Thirteenth Birthday

NORTH BAY, Ont., May 28.—(INS)—The Dionne quintuplets today celebrated their thirteenth birthday.

Thirteen years ago they were five almost identical mites and the medical world gave them small chance for survival.

Today, as they enter their "teens" the quintuplets are five chunky dark-haired girls each developing individual traits of personality.

Cecile, always one of the leaders, shows the most initiative.

Annette is the most industrious. Yvonne, the intense one, seems to realize more than her sisters, the new life that is unfolding for them. Marie, smallest since birth, remains the "baby" with the sweetest and most lovable disposition. Emile, the tomboy, has taken an about face recently and now is slenderizing into the most feminine of the five.

The quintuplets have lived a sheltered life but Sister Aime Des Anges, in charge of their education said they will be ready for high school entrance examinations next spring. They speak some English, play the piano, sing and dance. "Papa" Dionne said.

"We intend to see to it that the quintuplets become better acquainted with the world beyond the narrow horizon of their farm home."

"Neither my wife nor I will dictate to them about their future."

President May Plan To Return To White House

(BULLETIN)

GRANDVIEW, Mo., May 28.—(INS)—President Truman probably will return to Washington within a day or two because of his mother's remarkable recovery from her critical illness.

GRANDVIEW, Mo., May 28.—(INS)—President Truman may return to the White House in Washington by the week-end if his 94-year-old mother retains the gains she has made during the past three days in her battle for life.

The chief executive, his physician and all at the temporary White House in Grandview and Kansas City have been immensely cheered by the remarkable progress made by Mrs. Martha Truman in her uphill fight.

The president is beginning to look like his old self, the lines of anxiety on his face have been erased almost magically by the more cheerful news from his mother's bedside.

Mrs. Truman was "still making progress" last night in her latest Rally.

Marshall Gives Testimony On Seaway Plan

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(INS)—Secretary of State Marshall told Congress today that completion of the St. Lawrence seaway project will contribute to the security of the North American continent.

Marshall testified before a Senate foreign relations sub-committee that the seaway project will strengthen the defense of the United States and Canada in four ways. He said these were:

1. Make possible the construction of ocean-going vessels in "the relative safety" of the Great Lakes.
2. Provide "a vital new line of communication in the industrial area of the United States and Canada."
3. The shipper, contrary to rules, did not give "written notification in advance to the vessel regarding the characteristics of a dangerous cargo being shipped."
4. Give "over-all industrial and economic advantage" to the United States through development of "one of the world's greatest waterways."

Report Charges Red Propaganda Films Produced

Committee Reports Some Propaganda Films "Result Of White House Pressure"

THOROUGH PROBE IN OPEN IS URGED (BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(INS)—The House Un-American Activities Committee today approved a report charging that flagrant Communist propaganda films were produced in Hollywood "as a result of White House pressure."

The report was submitted by a subcommittee which recently completed an on-the-spot inquiry in Hollywood into allegation that many American films were packed with Red propaganda. The report asserted:

1. Scores of Communist screen writers have infiltrated into motion picture studios and that the screen writers guild is, "according to competent witnesses under the complete domination of the Communist party."

White House Pressure

2. White House pressure was responsible for a number of the most violently pro-Communist films.

3. Communist screen writers, directors and producers have employed subtle techniques glorifying the Communist system and degrading the American system of government and American institutions.

4. That the National Labor Relations board has given great aid to the Communists in their efforts to infiltrate and control the motion picture industry.

5. That until recently, there has been no concerted effort on the part of studio heads to remove the Communists from the industry and that they have been permitted to gain influence and power during the last eight years.

Rebellion In Industry

6. At the present time, there is a rebellion within the industry on the part of a number of top actors, directors and producers.

Body Of Woman Found On Road

Believe Woman Victim Of Hit And Run Driver Near Masontown, Pa.

MASONTOWN, Pa., May 28.—(INS)—The nearly nude body of a 28-year-old mother of four children was discovered today on a highway near Masontown, police reported.

He said her skull was fractured, her neck broken and she was clothed in undergarments only. Her other clothing, ripped and torn, was found nearby.

Hit And Run?
Harrison said he believed the woman's death to be the result of a hit-and-run accident.

However, County Detective William J. Long said an investigation was being conducted because of "suspicious circumstances" surrounding the death.

Mrs. Baker was last seen leaving a tavern near Masontown at 2 a. m. this morning, police said. She lived at the home of a brother, George Baker, at Mt. Sterling.

I like a dinner program that is snappy, where speakers say their piece and then sit down. I like them where the chicken's done precisely, with gravy thick and savory and brown. I like to hear a fellow who is speaking get up and hit folks right between the eyes, for such a dinner pleases all the diners and such a one is fitted to my size. I hate to hear them yammer petty phrases, and wave the flag and cheer the U.S.A. in order to get dinner started. Slapping—mighty warm and eighty-four today.

Twenty-Six More Nazis Are Hanged

Follow 22 Of Yesterday To Death For Horrors At Concentration Camp

By TOM AGOSTON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LANSBERG, Germany, May 28.—Swift American military justice snuffed out the lives of an additional twenty-six former Nazi torturers in the courtyard of Landsberg jail today.

The prisoners followed to the gallows the 22 other guards at the infamous Mauthausen Concentration Camp who were executed yesterday, ringing down the curtain on the great legal hanging of all time.

One of the original 27 slated to die today obtained a last-minute reprieve from American Military Governor Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

It took three hours and 29 minutes to efface from the living world the 26 men labelled by prosecutors at their trial as "monsters and mass murderers," who had been accused of incredible bestialities and the utmost refinement of tortures in their operation of the horror camp.

The prisoners were marched out into the courtyard one by one at intervals of fifteen minutes.

Each was flanked by GI guards, a prison official, an interpreter and a German chaplain.

splitting incomes to reduce taxes. The vote was 51 to 29.

McClellan immediately called up a companion amendment designed to provide similar relief for family partnerships. Millikin said it, too, would be defeated on the grounds that such adjustments should be made in next year's general tax law revision.

"Last Resort" Proposal
Democratic leaders, recognizing the inevitable fate awaiting all such amendments, framed a "last resort" proposal to make the GOP tax bill effective next January instead of on July 1.

Millikin questioned whether an amendment dealing only with the date could even be considered from a parliamentary standpoint, since the Senate already has approved the July 1 form of the finance committee bill.

But Sen. Lucas (D) Ill., who has a substitute bill carrying the January 1, 1948 date awaiting action, voiced confidence that the minority move would be held proper. The Lucas substitute would boost personal exemptions by $100 lower surtax rates two points and permit the "split-income" practice rejected in the McClellan amendment.

As the tax bill passed the House it would have made cuts retroactive to last January. The finance committee changed the effective date to July 1, 1947, thus giving taxpayers one-half of the reductions for the full calendar year. The Senate reductions are:

Thirty percent on incomes up to $1,000; 30 to 20 percent from $1,000 to $1,395; 20 percent from $1,395 to $70,000; 15 percent from $70,000 to $302,400; and 10% percent above $302,400.

MEMORIAL DAY

In many thousands of homes in our broad land, there will be sadness in the thoughts that this Memorial Day will bring. Placing flowers on a flag decorated grave is small consolation for the loss they have suffered—and many will not have even that satisfaction.

For us, to whom they have thrown the torch, there is stern work to do. We must prevent future wars—or all of these brave young men will have died in vain.

rectors and producers, who are refusing to play, direct or produce pictures which were written by a well-known Communist or in which well-known Communist actors have been given a role.

7. That the Communists have succeeded in preventing production of certain American pictures which sought to glorify America and the American system.

The reference to the White House was made in the series of seven findings. The report merely said that the propaganda films were the result of "White House pressure." The report did not amplify this assertion nor did it specify during whose administration the "pressure" was asserted.

Recommendations

The full committee approved three subcommittee recommendations.

1. That the investigation of communism in Hollywood be intensified and that a public hearing be held "at the earliest possible date" to give the American people the full facts and information on this dangerous situation.

2. That the Communist actors, writers, directors and producers be subpoenaed to appear in Washington and be confronted in public sessions with testimony and evidence against them.

3. That an investigation be instituted to determine the responsibility and extent of the influence and interference on the part of government agencies or officials in the production or "flagrant Communist propaganda films."

The report said that the subcommittee was furnished with a complete list of all the pictures which have been produced in Hollywood in the last eight years which contained Communist propaganda.

In conclusion, the report said: "In the opinion of the subcommittee, there is no question as to the serious inroads that the Communists have made in the motion picture industry, and it presents a problem which can only be corrected by complete exposure on the part of the committee, and prompt action by the studio heads."

portance of individuals rather than organized groups, yet admitted the worth of proper organization.

It was the kind of a refreshing address that had for its base the kind of Americanism that made this country. The type that once would have been termed rugged individualism, before that term was smeared with the New Deal tag of "economic royalism."

But it was the kind of an address that Americans need today, a reminder that hard work at the grass roots is much more effective and much cheaper than the questionable theories of a horde of ordinary folks who by governmental fiat become experts.

Short Meeting

The dinner meeting was short, but effective. President Ivor V. Davis opened it by asking the crowd to sing one verse of "America" and then asked Rev. V. V. Stanciewicz of St. Philip and James to pronounce the invocation. A Westminster college quartet composed of Don and Charles Davis, Joseph Thompson and Francis Peterson, accompanied by Bruce Keifer at the piano, pleased with two groups of songs. Jacob C. Wachtman, executive vice president of GNCA was the chairman of the meeting.

Past President William D. Cobau was the first speaker and reviewed the work of the past 12 months. The second speaker was President Ivor V. Davis who asked for community co-operation in doing a job here that will "result in good for all of us". Both addresses were short but meaty.

Dr. Wyand was introduced by Richard E. Rantz, first vice president of the GNCA, who is a former student of Dr. Wyand's in Penn State.

The decorations for the meeting were unusual. Artie Ralph Z. Galbreath had designed a back drop for the speakers' table which was artistic and effective.

To sum the meeting up in a phrase it was well planned, well executed, with a speaker who had a common sense message that no one could fail to understand.

HADASSAH CLOSING WITH INSTALLATION

Well attended was the closing dinner-meeting of the season of the New Castle Chapter of Hadassah, held Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the coral room of The Castle.

Installation of the 25th slate of officers for the local chapter took place, with Mrs. Alec Samuels as installing officer. She commented upon each position as the new officer came forward to assume new duties. Mrs. Samuels reminded the new officers what will be expected of them in the future, and requested their entire cooperation.

New officers are: honorary president, Mrs. L. P. Kohn; president, Mrs. Abe Cohen; first vice president, Mrs. Hyman Frank; second vice president, Mrs. Pierson Caplan; third vice president, Mrs. Archie Slovinsky; secretary, Mrs. Harry Moresky; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Harry Rosen; financial secretary, Mrs. Joseph Mirow; treasurer, Mrs. Abe Fisher.

The musical portion of the program was presented, including the Hungarian Rhapsody by Liszt, offered by pianist, Agnes Zaczeco, of Edwood City. Miss Zaczeco then accompanied the 11-year-old violin prodigy, Angelo Filigenzi Jr., who played, "Pupils' Concerto," by Seitz. The film, "The Life of Henrietta Szold," was shown, and it showed the interesting work Hadassah is accomplishing in Palestine.

Retiring president, Mrs. Gus Slovinsky, welcomed the group, and gave her year's report, which proved further accomplishments by Hadassah. She was presented with a gift by the Hadassah board in appreciation for her untiring efforts and leadership.

Mrs. Hyman Frank, program chairman, presided and presented the program of the evening. Tables were beautifully arranged for the occasion with lovely fresh flowers. Dainty refreshments were enjoyed during the evening's social period.

WEDDING IN ALASKA OF INTEREST HERE

In the Presbyterian church of Fairbanks, Alaska, on May 20 at 8 o'clock in the evening, Miss Maxine Mayvis Moorhead, daughter of Mrs. William F. Morgan of Denver, Colo., and J. W. Moorhead of Van Nuys, Calif., who was graduated the day before her wedding from the University of Alaska, became the bride of William Harry Neff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Neff of 317 Sheridan avenue, this city.

Rev. N. Harry Champlin officiated at the double ring ceremony in the glow from two lighted candelabra before an altar decorated with baskets of spring flowers.

The bride, escorted to the altar by William Cashen of the university faculty, wore a gray gabardine suit with pink accessories and pink camellias in her hair. Her corsage was of pink sprig blossoms. Miss Grace Berg as her attendant wore a powder blue suit with white accessories and a corsage of white flowers.

Donald G. Hyry served the groom as best man.

Following the ceremony there was a reception for 30 guests in the home of Mrs. Ann Schiek, 1009 First street, Fairbanks.

The bride and groom left in a plane piloted by Mr. Neff for a few days' honeymoon at the summer resort Circle Hot Springs. They will make their home this summer in the University of Alaska colony in Fairbanks. Next fall they will go to Farquhar, Idaho, where Mr. Neff will continue his studies under the GI Bill of Rights at the newly organized Farquhar College and Technical Institute.

Mrs. Neff, a graduate of the Anchorage, Alaska, high school, received a bachelor of arts degree from the university on May 19 with a teachers' certificate in her major history. And at the commencement exercises, she received the Marion Frances Beveler honorary award. She was the university entrant in the 1947 Carnival Queen contest.

Mr. Neff, a graduate of New Castle senior high school, who attended Westminster college and the University of Iowa, is a sophomore majoring in architectural engineering at the University of Alaska. During World War II he served as a navy pilot in the South Pacific. He is employed by Lavery's Airlines at Fairbanks.

FOOD PLUS FACTS

Along with accelerated food shipments from the United States that are arriving in Germany the German people are getting some unvarnished facts about their food shortage.

The food is coming. Boatload after boatload is being unloaded in the harbor at Bremen. American port authorities there have made the definite announcement that 1,000,000 tons of food will reach Germany in the period between May 1 and July 18. So the evidence is before German eyes in that city—and in Hamburg and Emden, where other ships are discharging cargoes.

The facts are also being stated, and in plain terms. While officials at Bremen were expressing irritation at German charges that the United States is not sending food, Sir Sholto Davis, British military governor, was telling the German people a blunt truth. They have no right, he said, to demand continued sacrifices from Britons and Americans so that they can be fed.

This statement was a reply to a memorandum handed Lord Pakenham, British parliamentary secretary for German affairs, by the minister of food and agriculture for the land north of Rhine-Westphalia, including the Ruhr. Sir Sholto pointed out that shipments to the German-American zone are a heavy burden on Britain and the United States. "The suggestion that Germany is entitled to claim this sacrifice as a right," he said, "cannot be accepted."

This is a point that should be pounded home and it is gratifying to read of General Clay's plans to counteract anti-American propaganda in Germany with better information on Allied efforts to meet the food problem.

THE ROOSEVELT PAPERS

The late President Roosevelt's memorandum concerning his "personal or confidential" files is a strange document to come from a man so conscious of his place in history that he arranged, during his lifetime, for a special depository to house his correspondence. It is almost incredible that the same person who planned the Franklin D. Roosevelt Memorial Library at Hyde Park felt that some of his papers should be sealed forever.

Yet the memorandum shows that he intended to go over his letters, before they were transferred to the library, and select those that "should never be made public," along with those to be withheld for a prescribed time so as not to embarrass living individuals. Some of them dealt with family matters.

Others, as he instructed the committee he named to act for him if he could not perform this task, were "in effect, personal." As examples, he cited "the longhand letters between the King of England and myself, or between Cardinal Mundelein and myself."

It is understandable that the late President should draw a line between his official and unofficial correspondence. But it is the personal correspondence of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln that is most interesting and throws most light on their characters. Perhaps if it had occurred to them to erect memorials to themselves, though, they would have held back on personal correspondence, too.

Still, Franklin D. Roosevelt foresaw that historians would study every aspect of his life for answers to the questions raised by his remarkable career and the role he occupied. That he should assert the right to make a final decision on any of the evidence is inexplicable.

WHEN THE SUN HIDES

The sun hides his secrets well. Periods of total eclipse, during which scientists can study phenomena usually hidden by the solar glare, are short and far apart. That is why expeditions of scientists from all over the world have been in the wilds of Brazil, traveling weeks and thousands of miles to attend a four-minute event.

In a century there will be approximately 80 total eclipses of the sun. The longest in this century will last, in its total phase, a little more than seven minutes. Some of the others will be mere token eclipses—too brief to be worth sending an expedition to. Altogether the periods of totality, when the earth is dark and a corona is visible to persons within the oval of the moon's shadow, will total no more than 250 minutes in a century.

That is little enough time to study cosmic rays, temperatures and pressures, measure the slight bend predicted by Einstein's theory, photograph the corona, check tides, temperatures and atmospheric pressures, and perform all the scientific chores involved in attending a battery of instruments.

As most of the earth's surface is water, many eclipses occur out to sea, where good observation is difficult. Many eclipses are hidden by clouds. And a scientist's working life, especially that part of it when he is able to go on long jaunts, is only a small fraction of a century.

But a total solar eclipse is as awful and lovely as it is elusive. Those who see one never forget it.

The more abundant life: Reliefers in New York City have been quartered in high-priced hotels for months at the taxpayers' expense. One family was thus ensconced at a cost of $600 a month to the taxpayers, it is revealed.

Stassen Gives Views Of Nation's Problems

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 28.—It is a striking commentary on our political system that only twelve months before the nominating conventions of the two major political parties, there should be only one avowed candidate for president of the United States.

Former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota is talking about the great issues that confront the American people today. He is putting on the record his beliefs and convictions. Even more important, he is contributing ideas and imagination to the solution of our problems. That is the function of a statesman. But by any standard you care to apply, this big, broad-shouldered son of the Middle West measures up to that role.

Bold Pioneering
His Jefferson, Iowa, speech the other day was a bold piece of pioneering. Various men in and out of public office have been skirting the dilemma of our time—which is how to make effective use of the economic and technological surplus in this country to promote stability and peace in the world. Cutting through the timid talk, Stassen proposed that for the next ten years we devote 10 percent of our national production of goods and food "to building for worldwide peace and plenty of freedom."

That challenging speech cannot be ignored. I believe it will be a kind of milestone on the road along which we must go.

We will be stirred into thinking in new terms. That is one of the (Continued on Page Seven)

OUR REPUBLICAN (?) CONGRESS

The Congress of the United States wants to adjourn in July. Up to the present time this Republican Congress has not done much but talk. They have been long on talk and mighty short on action. They have had before them President Truman's budget and they have backed away at this budget, but they have not finished their job as far as the budget is concerned. They have had a bill for curbing the labor racketeers before them. The House has submitted for confirmation by the Senate a finished bill, but the Senate's bill has been amended with no determination as to its final form. They have had before them the proposition of lowering the income tax, making it a little easier for the citizen to save a few dollars from the rapacious politicians. They have had Mr. Truman's suggestion on loans to Greece and Turkey, to be made for (Continued on Page Seven)

BAKED BEANS
Everybody needs protein to keep in good condition. Vegetable protein is found in grains and fruits and vegetables.

Animal protein comes from fish and eggs and milk and meat. Animal protein seems better than vegetable protein but it costs more. When vegetable protein is combined with animal protein it works better.

That is the reason for a good many of our food combinations. Meat loaf, rolled oats and milk, cakes and sausage, baked beans and a lot of other combinations take care of the protein pretty well. Grandma always put milk in her mashed potatoes. It made a big lot of improvement but she did not know why.

Better listen to Grandma; she knows a few things. Granddad is no slouch either, if you get what I mean.

The Parent Problem

TEACH YOUNGSTER TO BE INDEPENDENT

How much some young mothers can do in a day is amazing! Some of them are tempted to make the tot dependent on them for constant amusement.

Writing of her tot nearly two, a mother says: "I have a seven-room house to take care of and do not have too much leisure. So I should like to work out a more definite plan in bringing up Peter."

Follows Her Around
"He doesn't like to play by himself very much. He spends a great deal of time following me around the house. I now let him help me in some way, emptying ashtrays, putting dishes on the table and the like. He loves books, but I have only about an hour a day to read to him as I spend from one to two hours daily, weather permitting, out of doors with him. Is this enough time for him? I talk to him, of course, most of the day while working."

"He is getting very possessive at times and, if I try to read or knit, says 'no' emphatically and whines so that I can't relax enough to do either of these things."

Commended on Reading
Of course, I commended her on reading to him daily and on being out of doors with him so much. But she has tried so hard to amuse him that she has made of herself a slave to him.

There are hundreds of mothers just like this young mother. If you are one of them, make up your mind right away that your child is not going to be such a tyrant over you. When, for example, you sit down to knit, or sew, or read and the little child registers objections, ignore his words and cries. If he pounds you or tugs at you, tell him "no" just once. Then if he persists, pick him up and spank him soundly.

Sit in Chair
After you have him under control you can assign him to sit in a chair for about 25 minutes instead. Now and then, of course, you will look up from what you are doing to enjoy and admire his achievements with his blocks or other toys. Given a few simple toys, the tot or two or three, when no one will amuse him, will find ways of self-amusement for short intervals. In case like the foregoing, it would be well for the mother to post a schedule to follow. Suppose the schedule called for five minutes when no attention would be paid to the child, then for a few minutes when you would play with him. Later this schedule could well call for longer periods for his self-amusement. If the youngster whines during this period, his mother must learn to be deaf to such noise.

Embarrassing Problem
A more embarrassing problem is when the youngster screams or pounds his mother while she is telephoning or while a guest is talking to her face to face. In either event, (Continued on Page Seven)

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

The Soviet radio is to accept advertising. Up until now when a Moscow announcer praised LS MPT he meant Lenin, Stalin, Molotov, Fedorenko, Timoshenko.

But soon the Soviet air will be filled with sponsored programs like "It pays to be arrogant," "Can you stop this?" and "We...The Politburo!"

The sponsored quiz will be popular. The Soviet variation of "Take It Or Leave It" will be "Take It!" and "Information Please!" will come out "In Formation Please!"

On the thrill side there will be programs like "This Is Your OGPU" and "The Court of Missing Pairs" direct from Siberia.

No time will be sold for political broadcasts. As in the past, all political parties will be given free time on the air whenever it want it.

But I still can't figure a huckster in an Astrakhan hat or how you can hooper-dare a program no one would dare admit he missed.

They Say

NEW YORK — Herbert Hoover, former president urges separate peace if necessary with Japan and Germany: "The delay by Russia in making peace with Germany and Japan, together with the allied policies of reparations and industrial demilitarization, have paralyzed the industrial productivity of these countries."

NEW YORK — Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal: "The temptation to put on labor all the blame for industrial difficulties and high prices is as unjust as it is to saddle all business with that blame."

WASHINGTON — President Truman in a message to Congress urges U. S. military collaboration with Latin-American republics and Canada: "The close collaboration of the American republics provided for in the act of Chapultepec...make it highly desirable to standardize military organization, training methods and equipment..."

WASHINGTON — Secretary of War Robert Patterson: "For tomorrow, or for the next year, 'push button' warfare is but a promise. No possible enemies have now, or in the near future will have any guided missiles with which to attack us from the Eurasian land mass."

With reference to the man who gave a boy $3 for returning to him $18,000 he had lost, we believe we can guess the principal characteristic which enabled him to accumulate $18,000 and probably more.—Tulsa World.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

They sure have been calling my bluff these past few days... and it all started by a little old phone call from a friend... telling that he had found a five leaf clover and then we opened our big trap and said that we hadn't seen a five leaf clover... all that is changed today... for we have five leaf clovers by the handful... some freshly picked... others dug out of old books and perfectly dried... in case some of you haven't seen a five leaf clover look at the picture in this column.

This five leaf clover is one of a great number that Mrs. John Bridwell of New Bedford brought in to our desk. Not only did she bring in five leaf clover but also a handful of four leaf clovers and she picked them from her own yard in a very short time... in fact Mrs. Bridwell says it only took her fifteen seconds... she would have picked more but she was washing the windows in the barn and couldn't stop any longer to pick five leaf clovers.

We also learned from various people that the five leaf clover is bad luck... and when you find one you should throw it over your left shoulder and that will counteract the bad luck of finding the clover... also going a wee bit further... if anyone catches the five leaf clover when you throw it over your left shoulder then he should receive the blessing of good luck. Do you follow? If not it won't make a great deal of difference. When Mrs. Bridwell handed the clovers (5 leaf) to us she insisted that we carry out the old tradition... now we are waiting to see what good luck comes along.

Others who have sent or brought in beautiful five leaf clovers are Edward Dayner of RD 1, Ellwood City... Mrs. Ed Smith, Neshannock Township... two who requested their names to be withheld and a devoted reader... We thank you each and every one. Your interest proves that all people are not mean and looking sour on the old world... When we can forget for a moment the trials of the world and think about finding five leaf clovers we prove that there is still hope for genuine peace among all men.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

There isn't a day that you can't learn something new if you'll keep your eyes and ears open—and listen to the scientists.

(By the way, before my editors see my column I always show it to my wife, with the result that many of my columns aren't seen by my editors at all because my wife makes me throw them into the wastebasket. So I don't know whether you'll ever see this one. My wife says I am too prejudiced against scientists and make too much fun of them.)

But in case my wife passes this one, here is something I learned the other morning.

Diet is no cure for obesity, the New York Medical society was told by an eminent scientist.

Obesity is really not a defect of the body but a psychological ailment.

"Women who eat themselves into obesity because of emotions, unhappiness or fear of men and marriage, can be helped by psychology, but not by being ordered to diet," declared Dr. Henry B. Richardson at a meeting of the society.

To be cured, women must be taught to realize what their underlying emotional or nervous troubles are.

The overeating may begin in childhood, as a method of compensation against the feeling of being deprived of parents' love," Dr. Richardson said. "Later, the fatness actually acts as a disease, causing suffering and interfering with the woman's adjustments to life."

To come back to my wife's criticism that I am prejudiced against scientists.

I am nothing of the kind. I have the highest respect for those men who work in laboratories and clinics, many of them unsung and unknown, with comparatively little financial reward for their efforts, to help suffering mankind.

But I do believe that science can go too far, particularly when experiments and suppositions are published as facts.

Dr. Richardson speaks of fat women only.

Personally I know several fat women who love to eat cakes and candies and ice cream and a lot of other rich food, but who have absolutely no "fear of men and marriage." To the contrary they not only rule their roost with an iron hand but also are quite fond of men—their own and those belonging to others.

I also know some roly-poly little girls who stuff themselves all during the day but who are not the least bit deprived of their parents' love. As a matter of fact, several of them are frightfully spoiled by their parents and generally known as "brats."

When I was a kid I was a fat little shaver. I used to steal cookies and fill myself with all the things I wasn't supposed to eat because they'd make me fat. And I know my parents loved me.

And, as far as fear of women is concerned—I still like them, even today.

I also still like to eat fattening things. When I get five pounds overweight I diet for a few days and am normal again.

Now let's see whether "my most severe critic" will pass this.

Good Taste

CONSIDER THE POOR BOYS' POCKETBOOK

"Won't you please give some good sound advice to the girls who take for granted that the sky is the limit as far as boys' spending money is concerned. Some of them have no pity on us. They seem to think we all have money handed to us on a silver platter. Tell them to have a heart and come down to earth."

Answer: Well, girls, here goes!

Do have compassion on the poor boys. Remember they must eat for a week on that pay check. Don't try to see how much of it you can spend for them in one night.

When you are asked out to dinner by a hard-working boy order table d'hôte rather than a la carte. If a boy asks you to have something to eat after a dance or a show, consider the right margin of the menu (where the prices are listed) as well as the left.

Do not expect to be taken everywhere in a taxicab. If he asks you and you know he cannot afford it, tell him that you prefer to go in the street car.

After he has taken you out a few times, invite him to your home for dinner and the evening. Arrange occasional parties at your home. Don't expect to be on the receiving end all of the time. And don't appear with your hat on every time he says he is coming around to see you.

Once you establish the reputation of being a gold-digger your dates will be few and far between.

Question: I find it very difficult to eat a salad without the aid of a knife. Must I struggle to break it apart with my fork?

Answer: You may cut it with a silver-bladed knife. It is almost impossible to eat head lettuce without first cutting it with a knife.

Present your promptly to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

Great Game Of Politics

Saved By Proverbial Shoestring?

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The chances are that the State Department's office of International Information and Cultural Affairs (generally designated as the OIC) and which includes the so-called "Voice of America" will be saved—almost by the proverbial shoestring—from the complete obliteration that seemed assured by the recent attitude of the House. But some of its gaudiest feathers will be plucked out and the uninhibited, unrehearsed and unrestrained nature of its operations will be modified.

At least such is the hope. Congressman Mundt has sponsored a bill providing the legal authorization the agency lacked but laying down certain restrictive conditions, and Chairman Tauber has softened sufficiently to indicate approval of a reduced appropriation to keep it alive. However, this survival is not due to the dire predictions of disaster that have come from the not entirely disinterested individuals under whom it is now functioning, nor from the gay young radicals who are having so much fun in their participation.

IT is not even because of the sober commendation by the conservative press, convinced of the essential soundness of the idea though unenthusiastic about the quality and manner of the operation. Actually, the OIC has been saved from the extinction (eagerly sought by a considerable number of justly irritated persons) through the efforts of Secretary of State George Marshall, supplemented by those of the chief of staff, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

THESE are the men responsible for rescuing it—if it is rescued—from a somewhat savage Congress all set to end what was quite widely regarded as an ill-spent life. The emphatic and powerful assertion of General Marshall that discontinuance of the OIC would weaken American foreign policy and make our position abroad more difficult to maintain just could not be ignored. That, coupled with his expressed belief in the real need of pro-American propaganda to counteract anti-American propaganda—a belief strongly supported by General Eisenhower—was too much for the Republican leadership. That is easy to understand.

UNDER the impact of those non-political statements from those particularly nonpolitical men, it gave ground. To reject, would have put Republican leaders in a position hard to defend and impose a responsibility no party leadership would care to assume. So, unless things change, the OIC, somewhat scarred by its experience and, perhaps, somewhat chastened by its fright, probably will continue another year. It will have a rather precarious, reluctantly granted lease of life, but it will have escaped threatened destruction. However, it will be well for those who operate and control it during the next year to realize that this is by no means a permanent lease and, unless they want to court death at another session, they will be wise to "mend their ways."

FOR the opposition to the OIC has not been to the principle upon which it is based but upon the inferior quality of its personnel and the absurdity with which it has often performed. A lot of the silly things done in and by the OIC have been brought out by congressional investigators. They include the eulogy of Mr. Wallace, broadcast by the "Voice" while he was abroad engaged in assailing American foreign policy; the distribution, through its "cultural agents" in foreign capitals of an obscene novel; the sponsorship of some of the ordinary American—ridiculous specimens of modern American art, etc., etc.

IT WILL also be well to remember that some of our best-trained diplomats in the department privately—as they must—take a dim view of the OIC. Their contention is that its "cultural attaches" whom they have had to absorb in our embassies and legations are anything but "cultural" fellows and have really nothing much to do; that the salaries paid by the OIC to some of its personnel are higher than they possibly could earn in private life and put them almost on a compensation equality, where they do not belong, with Ministers, Ambassadors and even Cabinet members; that this would be forgivable and even justifiable if they were worth it—but they just are not.

ON the contrary, they are of the extreme crusading, New Dealish, OWI type, in whose judgment not many have confidence. However pure their hearts may be. In brief, men of experience in the field, while subscribing to the propaganda principle, are dubious whether, as now operated, the OIC does as much good as it does harm. Saved after a tremendous effort, it should be remembered that there exists inside and outside the department, as well as inside and out of Congress a degree of intense hostility toward OIC. Clearly, if it is going really to be useful it ought to be reformed. Clearly, unless it is, not even General Marshall will be able to save it next time.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

The political future of Great Britain, and possibly that of all Europe, is being debated with both dignity and fireworks in the ancient Kentish seaside resort of Margate today.

There the British Labor party is in conference. Its members at present are enjoying the privilege of criticizing their own leaders within the government on any and all subjects ranging from pacifist military conscription to alleged over-friendliness with the United States. Agitation against conscription met with defeat at the opening session. And it was quite apparent that other criticisms of the government's policies at home and abroad likewise would be torpedoed when the spokesmen for Prime Minister Clement Attlee and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin unlimber their heavy guns.

The Labor party's session in the traditionally Conservative stronghold of Margate caused British political observers to speculate on two intriguing factors.

Labor Grip Strong
One is the apparently still very strong grip maintained by the Labor party upon the country as a whole, despite current attempt to revive the Liberal party which went into virtual eclipse at the time of the late Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's first coalition government.

The other is the undeniable fact that Bevin's foreign policies—despite all criticisms voiced against them—in actual point of fact conform to the traditional British groove.

British political observers generally concede that the Labor government's foreign policy is some "90 per cent" geared to doctrines centuries old.

The missing 10 per cent represents a vacuum typified by Labor's promise and determination to grant Indian independence by June, 1948—a step which Winston Churchill has decried as a heart-breaking dismemberment of the British empire for whose immortal greatness millions gave their lives and fortunes.

Churchill's Promise
Yet it is a matter of record that before the war and prior to his own premiership, Churchill as spokesman for the Conservative party had promised freedom to India.

His political organization fought shy of an actual date for consummation and there never was anything even like an implied threat that Britain under his leadership would abdicate responsibilities and throw India upon her own resources.

Store Executive Claims Shopper Due For 'Break'

PITTSBURGH, May 28.—(INS)—The poor, down-trodden customer is due for a "break," according to department store executives.

Harold M. Seder Tuesday told 400 of the nation's top department store executives attending the three-day meeting of the National Retail Dry Goods association that.

In addition to courtesy—"The customer is always right"—the everyday buyer is due for better, speeded-up service and less red tape, Seder declared.

Calling for more productive customer service, he said department store customers should get what they want without waiting, without hiking from floor to floor and without complicated sales slips.

He said: "Merchandise should be in the open and clearly labeled to encourage customers to select what they want without the help from the salesperson."

"Fitting rooms should be nearby, not 60 feet away. People who want to buy related articles—such as shirts and ties—should be able to buy them in the same department."

"Complicated sales slips should be simplified."

Seder added that he believed that a new incentive system should be developed to discourage commissioned clerks from "catering to the rich and ignoring the poor."

sub-continent from British rule has been a tenet of British politics—Conservative, Liberal and Labor all combined—for many decades past.

In his dealings at the Paris peace conference and in the Big Four council of foreign ministers, Bevin has shown himself fully capable to cope with all contenders. His Labor organization is a strong one and his government has displayed an almost astonishing ability to overcome setbacks and hardships.

It is quite obvious he will be able to keep his own party in line, and for the moment even the most extreme left-wing elements have made little noise and almost no progress.

major contributions Stassen is making to his time. In his interview with Stalin, too, there was much to provoke discussion and debate.

Preserve Free-Enterprise

In that interview, Stassen told Stalin he believed we could regulate Capitalism and thereby preserve the free-enterprise system. He expressed optimism over the future in this country.

In a talk with candidate Stassen, I asked him to expand this. Why was he optimistic? What did he mean by regulation of Capitalism? The informal discussion developed so many interesting points that I asked permission to record some of the questions and answers. Stassen consented, stressing that our brief talk could by no means cover all his views in this field.

Here, and in a following column, the substance of that talk will be given.

Childs: You told Stalin you believed it was possible in America, through regulated Capitalism, to stabilize production at a very high level and to maintain high employment without an economic crisis. Tell me first what you meant by the term "regulated Capitalism."

Got Out Of Balance

Stassen: It is my view that, as contrasted to the traditional Capitalism of Europe, with its monopolies and cartels, of which the Communists have written, and as further contrasted to the planned economy of Russia, we have had a regulated, private Capitalism ever since the passage of the Sherman Anti-Trust act and the Clayton Act covering restraint of trade. The system got out of balance, and the regulation proved insufficient at the time of the 1929 crash and depression. But I am convinced that we can work out broad regulations and careful rules within which the dynamics of a private Capitalism should operate. It would be a tragic mistake to turn towards governmental ownership or Socialism or planned economy, or however you wish to label the opposite trend.

Childs: There are some signs now of a recession; perhaps no worse than that. What do you think are the steps that should be taken now, particularly in the light of what the Truman administration has or has not done?

Administration Too Quick

Stassen: I do not consider that there are any major immediate steps that need to be taken. The administration has stepped in too quickly in support of some food prices, such as in the potato situation, and actually caused higher prices right now than there ought to be. We are also still experiencing some of the effects of the bad handling of price controls immediately after the war—which slowed up some essential production. But I look for a gradual downward price movement as various items reach ample production, with spot adjustments in the near future but no serious depression or economic crisis. My thinking on this entire question of our economic system and its regulation is more on a long-term basis.

In a following column, Stassen discusses monopoly and concentration of economic control. He suggests various means to offset the post-war trend toward ever greater concentration.

purpose of barring the Soviets from the Mediterranean, and incidentally, from the rich oil fields of Iran and Iraq (Persia, of you will), but no definite action has been taken on any of these things.

Has To Do With Wool

In order to keep the representatives of the American people assembled in the House and the Senate busy, the last proposition to be dropped into the lap of the Eighty-third Congress has to do with wool. Our government has on hand a wool surplus of nearly on million "grease pounds" due partly to excessive war purchases and partly to its program of stabilizing the wool market (the law of supply and demand ignored). Now in the face of this domestic surplus, the British are dumping into our markets many million pounds of wool. British wool can be delivered at Atlantic ports, duty paid, some ten to twelve per cent cheaper than our own wool can be sold under the government fixed "support" prices. Thus the home growers who are supposed to profit by the sustaining of high prices are in reality made the victims. Oh, this is just a little problem, depending upon whether we wish to support our home market with proper tariffs or not. The question whether the Republican majority in Congress, generally supposed to be in favor of protecting home markets, shall increase the duties on wool imports fifty per cent rather than decrease them fifty per cent, should be an easy matter, but the Republicans do not present a unified protective policy today. They haven't the "guts" sufficient to stop placing the interests of other nations first.

How are the Republicans who were elected last November going to appear before the national electorate with their wishy-washy front to the New Deal? This Republican Congress has elected David Lillenthal head of the Atomic Commission, than which there is no other New Dealer more strongly attached to the late President's policies.

And are we going to continue with all of these Republicans if they don't wake up and present a strong front to Mr. Truman's evident desire to follow F. D. R. implicitly?

DECOYS

It is an old political trick for one candidate for public office to enter in the contest other candidates they know have no chance to win. They put them in for the sole purpose of drawing votes away from their opponent.

Such candidates are merely DECOYS, sometimes they know what is going on but usually they serve as Guinea Pigs.

I will not resort to this practice and ask the voters to watch for this political trick.

Presbyterian Pastor Gives Splendid Talk Pertinent To Memorial Day Season

URGES HEARERS TO REMEMBER HEROES

While America owes its war debt a debt it can never repay, we can pause to think about them, and to recall their valiant exploits, Dr. Robert F. Galbreath told New Castle Lions Club members at their noon luncheon in The Castleton, Tuesday.
Memorial Day is the most solemn of all our holidays, he stated, and although we have quite a number of dates we remember significantly, none have the same theme for observance. Memorial Day is America's Day of remembrance, he pointed out.
Someone has stated that the people of a republic are ungrateful, but Dr. Galbreath stated that he felt they are not as ungrateful as they are forgetful.

Recalls Other Days
He recalled his first remembrance of Memorial Day, when those men who wore the uniform of blue in the Civil War gathered to observe Memorial Day, and of seeing tears in the eyes or on the cheeks of the men who fired the volleys over the graves of their comrades.

He recalled another Memorial Day, just behind the lines in France when those young men of 1917-18 acted the same way. So with us today, Memorial Day is appropriate as a day on which we can recall the great suffering and sacrifice that many of our finest young men endured in order that this great republic should continue.

Yet in recalling the deeds of valor which these men performed, it seems that today there is less hope for peace than there was at the close of World War One. It is so tragic, he stated, that a handful of wilful men can balk the will of nations of peace-minded people.

Dr. Galbreath expressed the confidence that there will be a day not far distant, when there will be a Memorial Day, which will find the world at peace, but it will only come when the will of the people is greater than the selfish desires of a small group.

To Visit New Galilee
We must uphold the ideals for which our young men died, he stated in conclusion. We must purpose and plan in an ever richer sense to make this land truly the land of the free and the home of the brave. We have a great work yet to do, a duty to give to those who come after us.

It was announced that the club will go to New Galilee Wednesday evening when the Little Beaver Club, sponsored by the New Castle Lions Club, will assist in Charter Night ceremonies. The meeting will be held in the I.O.O.F. Hall there.

Primary election was held by the club Tuesday, when the members nominated officers by ballot. The election will take place next month. Guests at Tuesday's luncheon meeting were: A. K. Martsoff, of New Galilee; C. E. Parlette, of Mt. Lebanon; and J. Kay Krebs, of Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Soviet Airplane Output Gaining

Outstripping U. S. Production; Could Destroy Great Britain In 48 Hours

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(INS)—Top-ranking aviation authorities warned that Russia is out-producing America in military planes and could destroy Great Britain in 48 hours "without the atomic bomb".

Oliver P. Echols, president of the Aircraft Industries Association, told a senate aviation subcommittee that Russia is producing "many, many times" the number of planes being turned out by this country's weakened aircraft industry.

He and other industry leaders urged establishment of a five-year aircraft production planning program.

Merrill C. Meigs, war-time chief of the WPB aircraft division, testified that Britain now can produce planes "as well as we can". He estimated that it was reasonable to suppose that Russia has more than doubled her plane production of about 25,000 in 1944. And he added:

"If and when we have trouble and Britain has even 35,000 or 50,000 planes, we won't have any notice and that whole country could be wiped out in 48 hours—without the atomic bomb. That is because England is so near the seat of trouble in Russia."

Meigs, now vice president of the Hearshe corporation, testified that if the United States "as we are now" he would "hesitate to say what could happen here" in event of surprise attack.

Meigs told the interstate commerce subcommittee that the U. S. aircraft industry is "slowly bleeding to death". He said the industry "needs a decision quick" to avoid liquidation or bankruptcy.

Glenn L. Martin, president of the Glenn L. Martin Co., Baltimore, said that "we have oversold the ability of American industry to work miracles."

Martin declared that new airplanes require at least four years for development from original design to delivery in quantities adequate for crew training and actual use.

Smuts Warns Red Actions May Mean Third World War

CAPETOWN, May 28.—(INS)—Premier Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts warned Tuesday that communism may lead to a new world war.

In an address to the Union of South Africa senate, the aged statesman said:

"Communist movements are active throughout the world. While no government wants war, these movements if they continue—and if this aggressive propaganda continues—may reach a breaking point resulting in war."

Smuts declared that during the war the United States and Russia became "super-powers", adding:

"In this there is the element of danger of a clash in the future."

"I don't like the position of two super-powers on the whole. It is necessary for peace of the world that Britain shall recover and maintain herself as one of the world's super-powers. I would go so far as to say that I look upon British rule as a safer guarantee for the peace of the world than the United Nations itself."

Smuts said that squabbling and disagreement in the Security Council "came as a sad blow to all who looked for world peace in the future."

He added:

"The General Assembly also has not been a very satisfactory body."

Grafton Fire Loss Today Half Million, Starts In Theater

Entire Business Block Guttled By Flames Before Firemen Can Control It

GRAFTON, W. Va., May 28. — (INS)—Fire starting in a newly decorated modernized theater today razed an entire business block in Grafton, causing damage estimated at half a million dollars.

The blaze, believed to have started in the Grafton theater, was a roaring inferno when discovered at 3:40 a. m.

Fire departments from Bridgeport, Clarksburg, Newburg, Kingwood and Philippi, as well as all Grafton equipment, battled the flames for four hours before bringing the fire under control.

They were able to prevent its spread to buildings nearby, but could not prevent destruction of a Sears-Roebuck store, a shoe store, auto supply firm, jewelry store and confectionery, as well as offices on upper floors of the buildings.

Firemen still were pouring water on smoldering embers this afternoon.

No cause for the blaze could be determined. Officers said it apparently started in the theater, possibly in the projection room or balcony.

C. D. of A. Has Initiation Class

Third Degree Work Follows Initiation For Forty New Members In Catholic Organization

FR. F. STREIFF GIVES ADDRESS

Catholic Daughters of America, Court of Teresa Irene No. 231 formally welcomed 40 new members into their court, Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock, at the meeting in St. Mary's auditorium, with Mrs. Marie J. Metz, historian in charge of the third degree work.

On Sunday afternoon, the initiation of the large class took place with impressive ceremonies in The Castleton at 2 p. m. At this time there were 13 initiates, 40 new members, and 19 members initiated from the Butler, Pa., Court. Members of the Butler court were in charge of the initiation services, with Mrs. Sara Beatrice, district deputy, of Ellwood City, supervising. The Butler court provided the musical selections during the ceremonies.

Diner Is Served

At the close of the initiation session, a delicious dinner was served in the ballroom, the tables nicely arranged for the occasion. Lovely spring flowers were used as table centerpieces. Serving started at 5:30 p. m.

Rev. Fr. Francis C. Streiff, pastor of St. Joseph's church gave the invocation. "Ave Maria" was sung by Margaret Murphy, and grand regent, Mrs. Jessie Stenger gave the welcoming address.

Mrs. Evelyn Woods capably took the role as toastmaster of the afternoon, and introduced the Butler choral group who rendered appropriate selections throughout the entire program.

Makes Address

Rev. Fr. Francis Streiff, chaplain of the Catholic Daughters of America, gave the principal address entitled, "Unity and Charity." Father Streiff stressed the standard of unity and charity and emphasized the fact that with entire cooperation on the part of members, the C. D. of A. would be able to go far, materially and spiritually.

Rev. Fr. Albert M. Inteso, assistant at St. Vitus church, and Rev. Fr. Francis Paul of St. Agatha's, Ellwood City, were also on the speaking program.

Mrs. Sara Beatrice, district deputy made fitting remarks at this time, as did Mrs. Loretta Fair, grand regent of the Butler court. Margaret Murphy sang a selection honoring the birthday of the local court's grand regent, Mrs. Jessie Stenger.

Closing remarks were made by Rev. Fr. Francis P. King of St.

Mary's church, and the Butler court ended the musical portion of the program with "End of a Perfect Day." Miss Wanda Smialowski, was pianist for the entire program of the day.

Assisting Mrs. Metz, at the third degree meeting on Monday evening, were, Mrs. Jessie Stenger, and the degree team, Mrs. Mary Hagan, Mrs. Mary Maher, Mrs. Lucy Lmer, Mrs. Mary Brown, Mrs. Frances Donnelly, Mrs. Hazel Sewald, Mrs. Catherine Gallagher, and Mrs. Marie Jones. The degree work was patterned similar to the Truth and Consequence program.

A delightful social hour ensued, and delectable refreshments were served. Capturing prizes for contests were: Mrs. Irene Taylor and Mrs. Eleanor Skundor.

PUTTING STREETS IN SHAPE FOR SUMMER

George Washington Students Present Benefit Musical

Large Attendance At Junior High Program Presented To Provide Funds For Band Uniforms

A rainy evening failed to spoil the attendance at the George Washington Junior High benefit performance on Tuesday evening.

The large auditorium was filled to capacity for the band concert, chorus and play which was given by the music students to provide funds for the outfitting of the band. As soon as the figures are compiled, a complete report of the proceeds will be given by Miss Nanny Mitchell, principal of the school.

The opening portion of the program was in charge of John Paton, school music director who led the band in a number of selections. The band members putting their best into the concert, received numerous rounds of applause from the pleased audience.

At the conclusion of the band numbers, James Maxwell presented a specialty number entitled "Down on the Farm." Miss Jane Kyle's Seventh grade chorus followed with several well sung numbers.

Tom Patterson kept the audience in an uproar as he imitated one of the famous comedians. With the use of a phonograph record, Tom pantomimed a popular song with the record producing the sound effects.

The third part of the program consisted of a play entitled "Oh! Johnny!" directed by Geneva F. Cramer. Participating were: Jeanne Gresh, Nancy Reed, Paul Gibson, Roberta Spars, Paul Doerr, George Kegg, Dorothy Knittel and Mary Ann Fisher.

John Pitzer was also heard in a special musical number.

Others assisting to make the program a success were: Jean Davis, Marilyn Bliz, Forbe, Burdette, William Frey, Arthur Alexander, Miss Martha Matthews, Mrs. Pearl Johnson, Miss Jessica Jenkins, Ralph Wadding, Ralph Engelmeier and Mrs. Margaret Hauschild.

Forecast Army Of Candidates

Fall Primary Campaign Will Soon Be Under Way In County

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

June brings the brides and roses and with them come the candidates. The time for getting signatures to candidates' petitions is almost at hand and the crop seems to indicate bumper proportions.

This will be a strictly local affair with all offices being either city or county. In most cases 100 signatures are needed for a petition but in addition to such offices there will be 396 committee places to fill on the Republican and Democratic tickets, plus local township and borough offices.

It looks like a big crop of candidates and "neither snow nor heat nor gloom of night can keep these messengers from their appointed rounds".

Youthful Bandit Picks On Wrong Driver Of Taxi

Winds Up In Police Court After Latrobe Driver Turns On Would-Be-Bandit

LATROBE, Pa., May 28.—(INS)—State police today held an 18-year-old youth whose brief crime career comprised chloroforming and shooting a taxi driver.

Unfortunately for the lad, James Stevenson Phillips of New Derry, he picked on the wrong taxi driver. Capt. Andrew J. Hudock of the state police said Phillips got into Arthur Barger's cab at the Latrobe railroad station and instructed him to drive to New Alexandria, adding: "On the road he stopped the driver, drew a .38-caliber pistol and demanded Barger's money. Then he soaked a rag in chloroform and put it on Barger's mouth."

"Apparently he thought Barger was unconscious. Phillips climbed into the front seat and tried to start the car. Barger grabbed him and in the struggle they fell from the cab."

"While they were fighting Barger got the gun away from Phillips and notified police."

MAY we invite you to visit this week's opening of our newly decorated galleries. It has taken us nearly a year to collect the items of furniture that are now on display, and you'll agree with us that it was well worth the effort. You'll see for the first time the new design trend, "American Informal", a clever blending of traditional and modern design features; fabrics and accessories. Teamsters Will Ballot Tonight

PITTSBURGH, May 28.—(INS)—Two AFL teamster officials will seek the presidency of the powerful AFL Teamsters Council, No. 40, tonight at a special election in Pittsburgh.

The candidates were Bernard C. Mazon, president of the AFL General Teamsters, and J. Patrick McHale, president of the AFL Newspaper Drivers union.

The vacancy was created by Albert O. Dietrich, who resigned the position to devote full time to international union duties.

NATIONAL FORESTS HELP

NEW YORK—(INS)—The national forests include 73 million acres capable of growing commercial timber crops, says the annual report of the forest service, U. S. Department of Agriculture. They contain one-third of the national saw-timber stand. They are being managed for continuous timber production.

In recent years they have supplied about 10 per cent of the nation's yearly lumber cut. With careful management of their timber resources, the national forests can help cushion the shock of private timber exhaustion in many areas, and save many mill operations from shut-down. Eventually their total sustained-yield output of timber can be more than doubled, says the report.

The invested capital in British railways of $6,500,000,000, with 850,000 shareholders, is the largest private industry in England.

Social Security Office Announces New Summer Hours

Tri-County Headquarters Will Be Open From 8 A. M. Until 4:30 P. M.

Beginning June 2 and continuing through the month of September the tri-county headquarters for Social Security services, located in the Johnson building, Neshannock avenue, will open in the mornings at 8 a.m. and close at 4:30 p.m. It was announced today by the new manager, Myron Milbourn.

The office operates on a five-day week and is closed all day Saturday. Mr. Milbourn reminded the citizens of the county that the office will continue with the usual services—handling the benefit claims of older workers and of those survivors in the case of death to a younger wage-earner in the family.

Account Numbers
The manager also stated that social security account numbers should be obtained through the local office. This is especially true of younger workers who intend to seek summer employment since possession of these cards is imperative before they can begin work.

Persons who have reached the age of 65 are urged to check with the office to protect any benefits that may be due them. It is not necessary that the applicant be retired when seeking such claims, it was explained. Prompt action by persons reaching this age bracket will save them from any possible loss in benefits, Mr. Milbourn pointed out.

Official time-keepers at track meets start their watches when they see the smoke rise from the starter's pistol. Slight travels faster than sound and the smoke is visible before the sound reaches the timers' ears.

Committees Reports Of YWCA For Year

Education Committee And Business
Girls Department Summarize Work

Education committee and Business Girls Department gave the report at the annual 39th meeting of Y.W.C.A. Mrs. Ira Ramsey and Emily C. Rice are the respective chairmen.

Education Committee Report
Education committee planned a series of demonstrations on home decorating and designing, a class in beginning Spanish, a class in square and folk dancing, and a Saturday class in cooking for juniors. We were able to have one demonstration in decorating and joined the Blue Triangle Club in two of their demonstrations. We were unable to secure a teacher for the cooking class.

The class in beginning Spanish was very successful. Mrs. McKillop very generously donated her time and talent every Thursday evening for this project. The class was so much larger than anticipated that it was necessary to secure a second teacher. George MacMillen graciously donated his time and services as assistant teacher. No charge was made for this class from October to May 15.

Square and folk dancing classes, planned as an activity for out of high school boys and girls started the last of October and continued until Lent. They were held every Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. Brickner furnishing the music and Lou Walzer acting as caller and instructor. The enrollment was 80 with an average attendance of 24 a fee of 25c to pay the musicians and instructor was charged and the classes were enjoyed very much.

Business Girls Department
Business Girls Department has enjoyed a successful year, all clubs being active and having taken part in all of the activities of the association.

In observance of World Fellowship, the council and clubs had a dinner meeting followed by a clever skit and musicale.

The membership has enjoyed cultural and educational programs, social activities, picnics, dinners, visits, theater parties, dancing, etc. Our clubs were hosts to the Area Conference of Business Girls, all activities taking place in the Castle. Miss Helen Hazen, a member of the Junior Business Girls Club, was general chairman.

Delegates were sent to the conference at Wells College.

The clubs recently held annual elections and the council will have their election in the near future.

Personnel of the Business Girls committee: Mrs. Riley Ballard, Mrs. Betty Haines, Misses Betty Hamm, Ruth Jamison, Helen Wilson, Anna Mae Hazen and Phyllis Pugh.

SEWER PLANS TO BE APPROVED THURSDAY
When council meets Thursday it is possible that plans and specifications for the Seventh ward relief sanitary sewer will be approved. The city is negotiating with the B. & O. P. & L. E. and P. R. R. beneath whose tracks the sewers will course for a certain distance.

Violins, clarinets and other musical instruments are now being made from the same transparent plastic used during World War II for bomber noses.

Old Time 'Fourth' Promised This Year

Sons Of Italy To Stage Huge Parade And Fireworks Display

If you have been yearning for an old time Fourth of July in New Castle, you'll get your wish this year. As a part of the 19th state convention of the Pennsylvania Sons of Italy, a giant old-fashioned, patriotic parade has been arranged and today Francis Augustine, parade chairman put into the mail over 100 invitations to various civic and fraternal organizations to participate.

The parade will form at the Sons of Italy home on South Mill street, march up Mill to Croton, Croton to Washington, Washington to the public square, down Jefferson and Moravia to Long, up Long to Mill and thence to the lodge home.

Expect Huge Parade
 Mr. Augustine and B. J. Biondi, general chairman, have hopes that the parade will be the largest patriotic parade in the city in a quarter century. No effort is being spared to make it so and for those who like martial music, uniformed marchers, patriotic floats and a general air of holiday celebration, the Fourth this year offers it.

Completing the day an old-fashioned display of fireworks will be staged, one that will fill the skies with shooting stars, meteoric bursts and flowered pyrotechnics.

Plans for the convention are progressing. Delegates from 400 lodges in the state will be present as well as thousands of visitors and from July 2 through July 6, New Castle will be the headquarters for the Sons of Italy of Pennsylvania.

Death Of Radio Actress Is Being Probed By Police

NEW YORK, May 28.—(INS)—The apparent suicide of attractive 21-year-old Twila Phillips, radio and television actress, was investigated today by police.

"Sorry I have to leave you. I never really knew you loved me. I loved you very much."

PERSONAL MENTION
 Mrs. J. J. Love of Pearl street, has received word of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Love of Madison Drive, Homestead, on May 27. The latter were former residents of this city.

Leaflet Listing Polio Precautions Given In Schools

Message About Disease Being Given
Students To Prepare For Summer Season

HARRISBURG, May 28.—Distribution of 1,803,000 leaflets listing precautions against polio has begun in schools throughout Pennsylvania in cooperation with state and local education authorities, Robert W. Jones, eastern Pennsylvania state representative of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, disclosed today.

Mr. Jones said that it is planned to complete distribution of the leaflet, entitled "A Message to Parents About Infantile Paralysis," before the schools close for summer vacations and in advance of the polio season which in the United States usually begins in June and continues to the latter part of August or early September. Children in the schools are taking the leaflet home to parents.

Nationwide Plan
The project is part of a nationwide plan to distribute 30,000,000 leaflets giving facts about the disease to allay fear and furnish reassurance to parents in the event of infantile paralysis outbreaks. The plan has the endorsement of federal, state and local health and education authorities throughout the nation.

Last year 287 polio cases were reported in Pennsylvania compared with 785 during 1945. This year, as of May third 17 cases have been reported in the state.

"The people of Pennsylvania," Mr. Jones said, "will have at hand practical information to increase their awareness of the facts about the disease, and knowledge of what to do should polio strike. Prompt action often prevents crippling."

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, May 28.—(INS)—Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., today let out the secret of his boundless vitality.

It's the catnaps he takes during the day.

Many times when his presence isn't required on the set of his own production, "The Exile," at Universal, he'll be among the missing.

Invariably you'll be told Doug is "in conference."

That is true in some instances, of course, but more often he'll be in his dressing room sound asleep.

Doug explained it all to your reporter, who had apologized because he thought he'd interrupted a "conference" with a phone call from the set.

Doug said: "I was just taking a nap. It was time to get up anyhow."

"I frequently nap during the day, whenever I get a chance, as a matter of fact. It's not that I require so much sleep, but I sleep only about five hours at night. I make it up with naps during the day. I may sleep only a few minutes but it makes me feel great."

Franchot Tone is making his second independent production at Columbia, but he hasn't any idea when he is going to start his third.

"I haven't bought any more stories," he said. "I'll have to start looking around."

His first was a comedy with Lucille Ball originally titled "The Morning Call," then "My Awful Wife" and at the moment "Her Husband's Affairs."

His current one is a melodrama, "The Double Take."

When your reporter arrived on the set, Franchot was conversing with Director Sylvan Simon.

Your reporter remarked to Franchot he never had an opportunity to talk to him while he was working in the comedy with Lucille.

"You were always in bed," we said. Said Franchot:

"I love that picture. That's the way I enjoy working—in bed."

Alexis Smith took time out from "Whiplash" at Warners to tell your reporter someone ought to start a real campaign against the eating of popcorn and other noisy confections in theatres.

Alexis said: "It's simply impossible to enjoy a picture with people crackling paper and munching all around you."

The only trouble is that sometimes the popcorn is more enjoyable than the picture even for those not eating it.

Robbed Of $10,845 He Tells Police At Washington

(BULLETIN)
WASHINGTON, May 28.—(INS)—
Two gunmen staged a daring hold-up on the Washington waterfront early today and robbed John W. Barnes, 33, Norfolk (Va.) automobile dealer, of $10,845.
Barnes told police the bandits accosted him just after he had completed loading a car aboard a boat for transportation to Norfolk.

He said the pair fled in a car bearing Pennsylvania license plates after forcing him to surrender the money.
The victim explained he had such a large sum on his person because he is on a car-buying trip, paying cash for as many automobiles as he is able to acquire.
Barnes said he was en route to Harrisburg, Pa., where he was purchasing cars.

Harlansburg High Commencement Held On Tuesday Evening

Class Of Eight Seniors Presented
Diplomas By Principal Irvin
Stunkard During Evening

Harlansburg Presbyterian church was the scene of the annual commencement exercises of the Scott Township High school on Tuesday evening. A class of eight seniors was presented diplomas by Principal Irvin Stunkard.

Following the invocation, Doris Richeal gave the salutatory address entitled "One Religion and One World". Harold Iorio, president of the graduating class gave a very inspirational address.

The class valedictorian, Evelyn Strawhecker, chose as her subject, "Patriotism and One World". The presentation of the key to the Junior class was conducted by Harold Iorio and the key was accepted by Glenna McCracken. The class song closed the program.

Irvin Stunkard, principal of the school, presented diplomas to the following seniors: Doris Richeal, Harold Iorio, Doris McCracken, Josephine Post, Donna Heckathorne, Irene Dean, Ruth Pherson and Evelyn Strawhecker.

During the evening, the valedictorian and salutatorian were presented with suitable awards. The annual school picnic will take place on Thursday, with the senior class going to Detroit on Monday for an extended tour of the automobile city.

According to the Bible, Jubal is the inventor of the harp. The improvements which have rendered the modern harp an efficient musical instrument are credited to Sebastian Erard, who took out a patent for a harp with seven pedals in 1794, and again in 1808 for a double-action harp, each of which alteration effects two changes in the pitch of the strings. During the 19th century various improvements were made over Erard's harp.

The United States produces 90 per cent of the world's output of molybdenum.

Police Rescue Man From Mob

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 28.—(INS)—A 26-year-old Manchester, N. H., hotel worker, accused of attacking a nine-year-old girl, was held today by police after he was rescued from an infuriated mob.

According to police, Maurice P. Tessier, who has been working in Providence for the past three months, lured the girl into a doorway after feeding her and other youngsters candy and soda pop.

Officers said Tessier was taken into custody after a chase of more than a mile by police and neighbors of the girl.

Police saved him from an angry throng of 250 men and women only by drawing their nightsticks.

In early-day America, the cost of hauling a ton of goods by wagon from New York to Buffalo was $100.

Cosmo Club Stag Thursday

Plans have been completed for the annual get-together and stag for Cosmo club members scheduled Thursday evening, May 29, at 8:30 o'clock.

Chairman Dave Rosenblum of the entertainment committee has arranged an interesting program for the evening. Various pastimes have been planned.

Tasty refreshments will be served during the party.

National League Pennant Race Still Eight Club Affair

Turbulent Race Has Fans Dizzy

Cubs Shellack Cards, Dodgers Beat Giants, Cincinnati Tops Pirates

By LOU GARAVENTE
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, May 28.—The turbulent National League race, following closely the scrambled pattern so typical of the loop's flag chases is still an eight club affair with one-fifth of the season completed.

All the clubs in the senior circuit have the opportunity and the personnel to grab the elusive pennant. The Cubs, at present leading the panting pack by virtue of last night's 14-hit, 10 to 3 shelling of Howie Pollet and the still-slumping Cardinals, are barely in front of the Giants and Dodgers. Chicago sports a .576 percentage; New York has .567 and Brooklyn .562.

Dodgers Beat Giants

The Giants 7-to-3 loss to the Dodgers last night before a record 51,790 crowd, was a case of the booming bats which fashioned "big" innings being somewhat muffled by the fast-breaking low stuff of Dodger pitcher Ralph Branca. Ralph controlled the situation with the exception of home-runs by Johnny Mize and Willard Marshall.

Even in defeat, Big Jawn continued his four base blasting, as he notched his 13 homer in the second inning.

Tigers Claw Feller

The league-leading Tigers established a four game edge in their circuit by defeating bullet Bob Feller and the Cleveland Indians 4 to 2. George Kell hit as if he owned the Indian fireballer. He belted Feller for four hits, and three runs batted in.

At Washington, the Senators snapped a five game winning streak compiled by the resurgent Yankees, beating the Bronx Bombers 5 to 4.

Red Sox Win

Boston crept to within two percentage points of second place by beating the Philadelphia Athletics 4 to 2 on the impetus of Glen Russell's fifth inning three-run homer.

Chicago's White Sox and the St. Louis Browns divided their twin bill at Chicago. The White Sox took the opener 5 to 2, and the Browns grabbed the nitecap 2 to 0.

Blackwell Wins

Ewell Blackwell, the ganging pitcher for the Cincinnati Reds doled out four hits to the Pittsburgh Pirates, to clinch his sixth triumph of the season, 6 to 1.

Johnny Sain, who has been experiencing some difficulty in equaling the freshman pace netted him two-score victories, notched his fourth victory against three defeats to lick the Philadelphia Phillies 7 to 3.

City Baseball Card Thursday

Entire Six Games Washed Out Tuesday, Postponed Games Are Piling Up

City baseball league will attempt to get six games played Thursday evening after seeing all contests last night washed out again, for the second straight time, the Sunday card also was rained out.

The games will start at 5:45 o'clock sharp. The umpires are asked to call the game if both teams have nine men on the field at 5:45 o'clock, and not wait for batting or infield practice. By doing this the umpires will speed up the game and the teams get more innings played. All games must be started at six o'clock.

Indies Vs. Universals

Shades of the 1946 pennant play-off will be re-enacted at the Washington high field Thursday evening when the Lawrence Indies and Universal Pottery tangle, in a renewal of their sterling series last fall, in which the Indies won.

The league leading Columbus team will have a battle on its hands at West Pittsburgh. The South Hill team also undefeated will be at home with the St. Margarets team. The Colored Spartans will play the Union Civics at Scotland Lane, the West Side Tigers meet the Sons of Italy at Lee avenue field instead of Deshon and the Ryantown team will battle the Deuca D'Abuzzis at Ryantown field.

The Slovaks and Deweys are idle Thursday.

Two Games Tonight

Two postponed games will be played this evening in the City league as follows:

Dewey A. C. vs. Union Civics at Scotland Lane.
Colored Spartans vs. West Side Tigers at Lee avenue.

All teams are urged to arrange postponed games as quickly as possible.

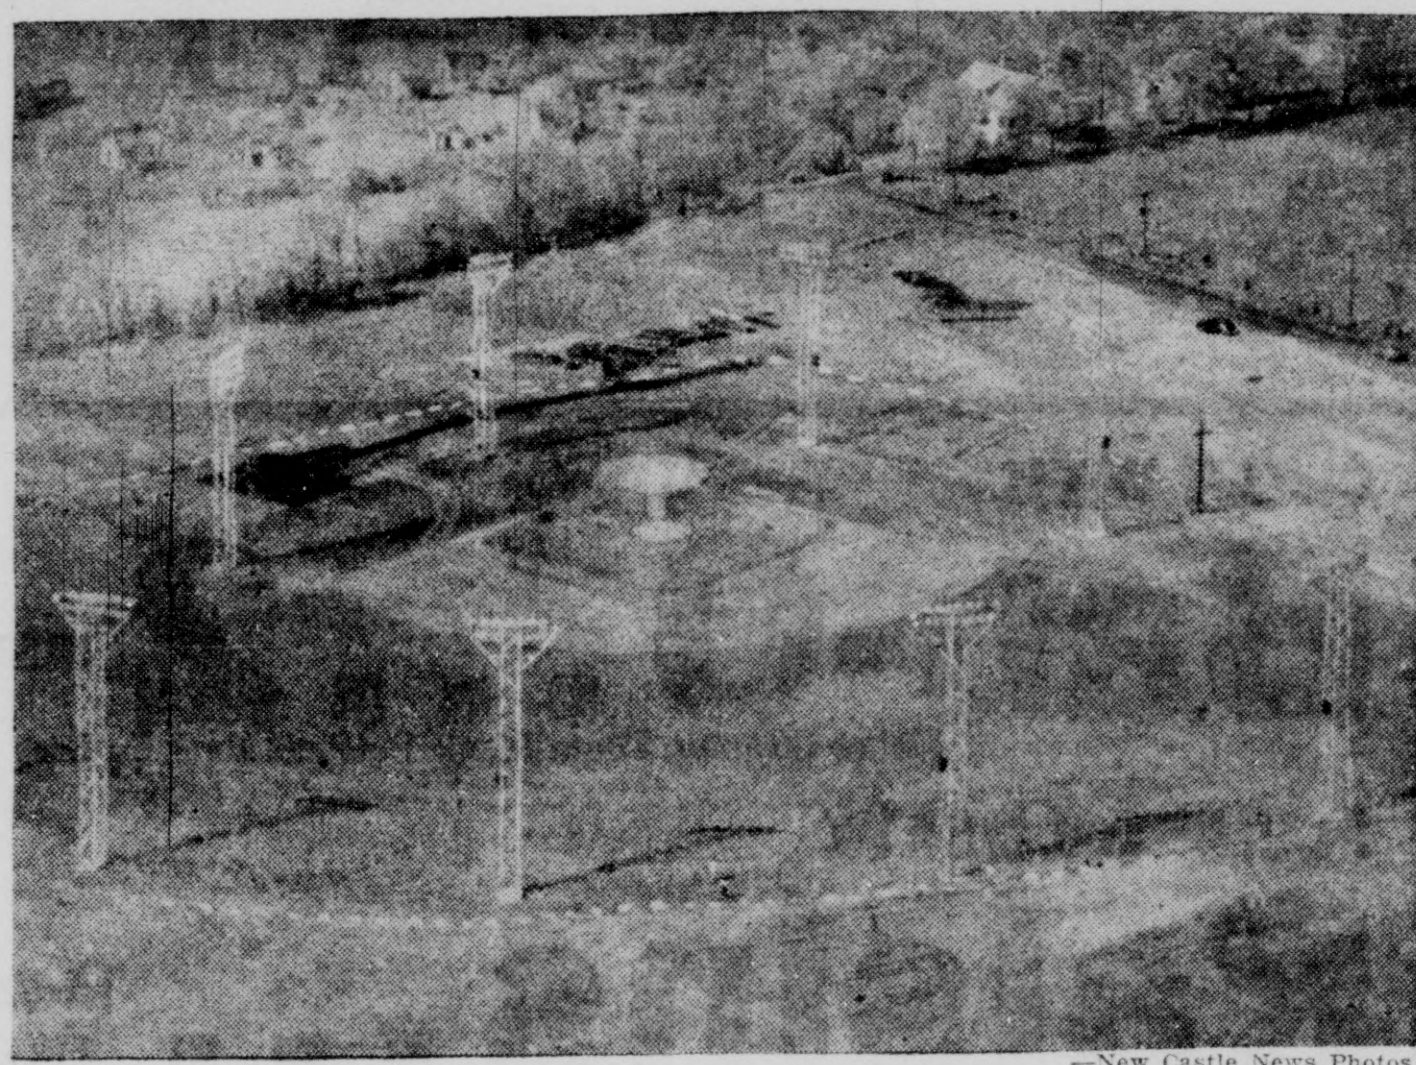

Mahoning Sportsmen To Meet Thursday

Vylus Latschaw, president of the Mahoning Sportsmen Association has called for a regular meeting of the members for the Hillsville schoolhouse at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening. Important matters are to be discussed, which will call for a full turnout.

CHURCH GOLF THURSDAY

The new Castle Hills course Thursday for a third set of matches in the loop, the matches to start between 5 and 6:15 o'clock. St. Pauls lead the league by a close margin over St. Marys, and the First U. P. teams.

Complete Erection Of Flaherty Field Lights

County League Active Tonight

Five Contests Listed On Card; Bessemer To Meet Moose On Memorial Day

With rain causing the County League schedule to move along in erratic spurts, all ten members of the loop are hoping for fair weather tonight with five battles carded.

Only one official game has been completed this week—the Sunday offerings were washed out and two Monday night encounters ended in ties. New Galilee topped the Wayne A. C., 6-2 for the only record-book entry.

Old Rivalries

Tonight's action will see old rivalries flaring anew. Ellwood Moose and Ellwood Vets will square off in their first league fray of the season at the Ewing Park field and the Moose is anxious to win to close the gap between themselves and the rampant Wampum Legion.

The Wampum champs, riding on a six-game winning crest, will entertain the Wayne A. C. and hope to make it seven in a row.

Hillsville and St. Lucy's, both off to poor starts in the loop, clash in an inter-community scrap, Edenburg, seeking their first win, goes against the resurgent Bessemer Cementers, and Castletown is at New Galilee.

Play Memorial Day

No official games are carded for Friday but Bessemer has arranged to play off a postponed game with the Moose at the Cement City field on the holiday.

All the clubs will be busy Thursday. New Galilee is at St. Lucy's, Bessemer jaunts to Ellwood Moose, the Vets are at Chewton against the Waynes, Hillsville is at Edenburg and Wampum treks to Castletown.

County Chatter: Glenn Hoover, sensational sophomore flinger of the Union high school Section 8 champs, will sign an Edenburg contract soon . . . his presence there may be the spark needed to lift the Tigers from the confines of the cellar . . . It is reported that the loop will be able to stage their Shaughnessy play-offs this year at Flaherty Field under the arcs . . . this would be a fine set-up for the competing teams and the fans . . . besides providing a neutral field . . . It is also planned to play the "Little World Series" (City League vs County League) at the new park . . . Club managers are urged to notify the sports desk of The News when they scheduled play-offs for postponed games . . . Much confusion can be avoided and more accurate tab on standings can be made if the pilots will cooperate . . . Bessemer is the only team in the circuit to boast two shutouts this season . . . Andy Ivanich fashioned the first one when he whitewashed Hillsville, 4-0, while Martin and Stanley engineered the second, against Castletown, 2-0.

The Pittsburgh Pirates will start their Sunday double headers at 1:30 p. m. EDT beginning June 15 against Boston, according to ball club officials.

Seinkner Benefit Will Draw Crowd

Clifton Flats field will be bulging at the seams Friday, Memorial Day, at 2 o'clock as the 1947 Slovak baseball club will battle the Slovak Old Timers in a benefit game for Johnny "Snowy" Seinkner who is seriously ill in the New Castle hospital.

Seinkner, a veteran of many years of baseball with the Slovaks and other teams, is to receive the entire proceeds of the collection taken up at the game to defray hospital expenses. No doubt, in the event of a nice day, many hundreds of fans and friends of the stricken well-liked ballplayer will gather at the Flats field.

Attorney Charles Dhugokenski is chairman of the Seinkner benefit game.

Torgeson Slams Homer In Memory

BOSTON, May 28.—(INS)—It came too late for the youngster he dedicated it to, but Earl "Torgy" Torgeson's ninth homer of the year had been earmarked today for ten-year-old Anthony Maggio of East Boston.

Anthony, a leukemia victim, was visited at City Hospital Friday and Saturday by "Torgy", who brought him an autographed baseball and a promise of a bat and a home run.

He returned Sunday with the bat to learn Anthony had succumbed to the dread disease.

Last night in the arc-light game with the Philadelphia Phils, "Torgy" aimed for the fence and connected with an offering of Al Jurisich which he drove over the right field screen for Anthony.

Umpires Assigned To Games Thursday

The following umpire assignments have been made in the city baseball league for Thursday:

At Lee avenue field, W. Adams and A. Baker; at Scotland Lane, Canale and Fabian; at Washington field, Ferrucci and G. DeMaio; at Ryantown field, Hardsky and Vaneman; at South Hills, F. Braky and G. Braky; at West Pittsburgh, Priscaro and A. Conti.

The Tigers and Sons of Italy switched their game to Lee avenue, the Indies and Universals will play at Washington, and the Dukes and Ryantown will play at Ryantown field, it was announced.

District Softball Opening Battles

Following is the opening day card, May 29, in the Mt. Jackson district softball league—the first named team being the home team:

Bessemer Presbyterians vs. Swedish Mission.
Bethel vs. Moravia, at Swedish Mission field.
Mt. Jackson vs. Westfield.
All games to start at 6:30 o'clock EST. Dick Winger is the chairman of the league. John Anderson is secretary, and can be reached at phone 8026-J-12.

Match Baxter For Two Bouts

Russell Baxter, local middleweight, has been matched to box Al Thornton of Rochester, Pa., in Rochester, June 18, and Eddie Elton, of Akron, July 4, in Akron, he reported last night. Baxter is training with Elkins Brothers here. It was announced last night at Ellwood City that Billy Pozza who stopped Johnny Santelli, would box in the Arena June 16.

Postpone Banquet Until June 21

St. Marguerite Mutual Beneficial society of Mahoningtown has postponed its planned May 30 banquet until June 21, it was announced today. This banquet is being sponsored by the sports committee. A sports committee meeting will be held at the club at 7:30 o'clock this evening, it was announced.

Pozza 'Kayoes' Canton Fighter

Stops Santelli In Second; Elisco, Burelli Win; Brothers Not On Card

Billy Pozza of Ellwood City knocked out Johnny Santelli of Canton, in 2:55 of the second round of a bout listed for three rounds in the Ellwood City high school gymnasium last night. They are heavyweights.

After losing the first round, Pozza put a right to the jaw. Santelli dropped to the canvas, but leaped up after Referee Sam Layschok counted off the tenth second.

New Castle fans who went to the bouts were disappointed when Elkins Brothers of this city did not fight. His Pittsburgh opponent failed to appear.

Guy Elisco of New Castle defeated George Butnovich of Monaca in three rounds of a heavy-weight bout and Lou Burelli, this city, defeated Carlo Agostinelli of Ellwood City, also in three rounds at 160.

Bell Outpoints Edwards

Ike Bell who fought next to the last bout defeated Jimmy Edwards, A.M.A. heavyweight champion, in a trio of rounds. Jimmy's lungs got him nowhere with the elongated Youngstown light-heavyweight.

The best bout on the card was between Jimmy Hill of Canton and Joe Butnovich of Monaca, a south-paw. Joe carried the fight to Hiller and was awarded the three-round award.

Other bouts follow: Tommy Ziegler, Beaver Falls, defeated Fred Mays, Youngstown, 128; Jack Butnovich, Monaca, vanquished Johnny Toth, Aliquippa, three rounds, at 160 and John Anderson, Pittsburgh, defeated Skippy Harris, Youngstown, at 120.

Approximately 1,200 fans attended the fights, all between amateurs, which was for the benefit of the high school football camp.

PRACTICE FOR LEGION PLANNED

Another practice session has been scheduled for Thursday evening at Deshon field, it was announced by Coachas Witherspoon and Ross of the American Legion Junior league, and plans for a game are expected to be announced for the team which will represent the post in district play.

BOB DOTY of the Barlow Baseball School, Inc., passes along word that baseball can now be studied, under the provisions of the GI bill and applications are now being accepted for the 1948 season. A division to train umpires, has been added to the school. Bill Grieve, former American league umpire presides over the division. . . . Sons of Italy will play the Dukes at 2:30 p. m. Memorial Day at Dean park. The Sons hold first place with no defeats. . . . Bill Bradley, local middleweight, is a truthful fellow. He writes Here & There: "I boxed Elmer Jennings in Pittsburgh. He had a hard head and used it. He cut my eye with a butt and I hurt my left thumb on his skull. I dropped" the decision. I'll be out of action for a few weeks." . . . Art Ross of New England, Horace Thomas of West Chester, Pat Ryan of Haverford, Bill Krom of Kerhonkson, N. Y., and Otis Stine of York, have entered cars in the Memorial Day midget races at the Mifflin County fairgrounds. . . . Buster Warke, a former Pennsylvania, now driving out of Tulsa, Okla., will be behind the wheel of an Offenhauser at Bedford fairgrounds, the same day. . . . Should a water accident occur, Memorial Day, call No. 8, 1000 or 568. . . . Lucky Girl from the loft of Ed. Khlen, Oil City, won the 200 mile race from Columbus, O., to Oil City.

Raymond Hornfeck, 45, Elizabeth township, was shot and killed accidentally while hunting frogs. A rifle discharged as he handed it to a companion. . . . Vic Scott of Forest Hills, N. Y., drove his Flying Scot VI to victory in the Albany-New York outboard motor race. . . . Specially marked shooting grounds will be set aside in Pennsylvania this year on which pheasants may be hunted from the start of the small game season until December 31 under provisions of a new game law. . . . High Spot Billy Frenkel grieved last night. He was unable to see the Ellwood City fights. . . . Ty Cobb and base stealing are inseparable. His record of 96 stolen in 1927, has never been equalled and his all-time major league record, 892, stands unimpaired. Max Carey's total was 738. Yet on the basis of percentages, Max was far in front. The same year Cobb stole 96, he also made 38 unsuccessful attempts, which were costly to his team. Carey, a master of timing, gambled less than Ty. When he started to steal, the chances were he would be successful. In one season he attempted 53 steals and came through 51 times. Cobb was the daredevil, Carey the scientist.

(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, May 28.—It must be evident by this time that Joe Louis will defend his heavyweight championship in September—perhaps for the last time—against Joe Baksi or not at all.

The defeat of Mello Bettina in the lightning bolt time of 59 seconds by elderly Gus Lesnevich Friday night shot the 20th Century Sporting Club's proposed elimination tournament full of holes before it even got started.

Lesnevich, the light heavyweight title-holder, is not a heavyweight contender, and took on Bettina strictly for payday. His own title was not at stake nor was he in there with the thick-set southpaw trying to build himself into the next victim on the Louis' list.

Not After Louis

Let anybody get any contrary notions about his attitude, Lesnevich said promptly after belting out Bettina.

"Let Louis keep his title and I'll do the best I can to keep mine."

With Bettina out of it, Baksi is the one man they can fall back on until such time he falls into what surely will be a knockout when, and if, he turns out to be the next target.

Jersey Joe Wolcott and Joey Maxima have not been seriously considered, but somebody might have emerged as a contender if Bettina could have won and taken on the winner of a proposed Wolcott-Maxima bout. As it is now, the winner of this latter bout will need additional buildup without anybody to build him up against.

Rather Deflated

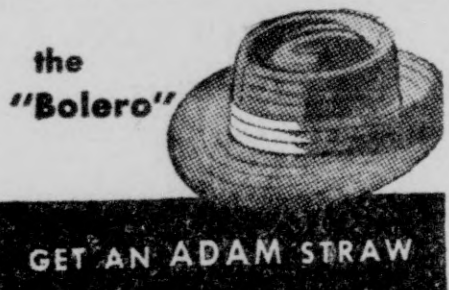

Ezzard Charles, the Cincinnati light heavyweight, is fixing to meet Elmer (Violent) Ray in an all-Negro match, but Charles is without terrific standing in the East so far and there is small likelihood of anything happening in the Ray match to catapult either into the Louis shot.

A good win by Bettina over Lesnevich would have kept the so-called tournament going, whereas the thing now is about as full of life as Bettina was after Gus slapped him silly.

Baksi Final Hope

Baksi thus stands as the last and final hope for a September heavyweight title match, and perhaps that is the way the 20th Century and Louis himself wanted it all the time.

Baksi will draw a considerable chunk of money even if, because the bout will come along a year since Louis' last defense. The long wait between matches will bring out customers hungry for another glimpse of Louis—and that, by the way, will about all they will get, just a glimpse.

Wampum High Graduates Thirty

Commencement Address Is Made Tuesday Night By Judge W. W. Braham

DAVID KANAGY IS VALEDICTORIAN

"The Achilles Heel of Democracy" was the theme of Judge W. W. Braham as he spoke before 30 members of the graduating class of the Wampum high school on Tuesday evening. The commencement exercises were conducted in the high school auditorium.

Depicting America as a giant during the past year as she fought on two fronts, Judge Braham pointed out how we came out as the great victors and that because of that fact many have come to the place where they feel that government owes them a living. Delving into the background of this great democracy he portrayed how our forefathers had come to admire and respect our government.

He pointed out that if this government of the people is to succeed it must have the backing of the people. When we serve it, we're serving one of the living ideals of the world. Therefore if the government is to succeed we must back it up and have faith in it.

Graduation Program
The annual exercises opened with a prelude by the instrumental ensemble with processional presented by the same group. The invocation was given by Rev. Fr. N. J. Schramm.

Salutatory address was given by Guy Armatorio with the valedictory address delivered by David Kanagy. Choral number by Robert Schumann was played by the instrumental ensemble. The instrumental ensemble preceded the address of the address of the evening by Judge W. W. Braham.

Presentation of diplomas was in charge of John A. Kuiken, president of the school board. Fr. N. J. Schramm pronounced the benediction.

Class Roll

Cat Bequeathed $5,000 Follows Owner In Death

LANCASTER, Pa., May 28—(INS) "Girle," a cat who was bequeathed $5000 by Mrs. Bertha Griffith, of Oxford, was reported Tuesday to have followed her mistress in death by less than three weeks.

Mrs. Benjamin Gallagher, custodian of the SPCA shelter at West Chester, where the animal was taken after Mrs. Griffith's death, said the gray and white feline died from homiesickness, complicated by an infected tooth.

John L. Hamaker, Lancaster attorney named as executor of the estate, said that the death of the cat would invalidate the $5000 bequest, since it was made in a will dated April 19, less than 30 days before the death of Mrs. Griffith. He explained the bequest, made to the West Chester SPCA, would have to be approved by Mrs. Griffith's sister, Mary Jane Scott, of Oxford, who receives the residue of the estate, in order to be valid.

First Church Of God Has Joint Celebration

Rev. W. D. Frye Honored Farewell Reception Given For Rev. V. Shreechengost

Members from the First Church of God, West Euclid avenue, gathered in the green room of the Y. W. C. A. recently for an informal gathering. The occasion was a farewell party for their former pastor, Rev. W. Dale Frye and also a reception for their new pastor, Rev. Vance Shreechengost.

Rev. Frye has been pastor of the church for the past five years together with the church in Ellwood City where he resides. He will continue his duties as the pastor of the First Church of God there.

Rev. and Mrs. Shreechengost and their two children have come to New Castle recently from Ashtabula, O., where they labored eight years and built up a fine congregation.

The evening was spent informally. Special guests were Rev. and Mrs. D. E. Rotzloff and their two daughters, Jean and Clariss, of Stoneboro, and also a former pastor.

Lunch was served by the ladies of the church at an appropriate time. Rev. Frye and Rev. Shreechengost were each presented with a gift from the congregation.

ASPARAGUS NEEDS QUICK HANDLING

One hour from garden to table, canner, or freezer is the secret of top quality asparagus. This vegetable loses flavor and becomes less tender on standing.

Cutting the stalks while they are crisp, plump, and tender is very important. Avoid cutting small woody stalks especially for canning or freezing though they may be used for cooking and eating right now.

When asparagus is properly prepared and correctly frozen, its garden freshness and unusual flavor are captured for eating enjoyment the year-round. A few simple rules insure good quality.

Asparagus may be frozen in "tips" or "cuts". To package tips, cut them to just fit into the box, using the less tender ends for soup. For the cut vegetable, one-inch lengths are convenient for packaging.

Wash the asparagus thoroughly, removing the large scales. Cut in desired style and scald 3 minutes in boiling water or 3 1/2 minutes in steam. Plunge at once into ice water or cold running water to cool quickly. Drain thoroughly and package. Pack stalks parallel in box with tips and cut ends alternating.

Pack cut pieces compactly. Freeze at once.

More detailed directions for freezing asparagus and other vegetables are given in Pennsylvania Agricultural Extension Circular 252. A copy of this publication may be obtained without charge by contacting the Agricultural Extension Office, 206 Post Office Building, New Castle.

Circular 238 on Canning is also available upon request. This publication gives information on canning of fruits and vegetables.
